

PRESIDENT WILSON SPEAKS TO FARMERS

Executive Tells Delegation He Does Not Expect U.S. to Get In War

MANY FROM NEW YORK

Wants Privilege of Representing the Whole Force of the Nation

SEEKS CO-OPERATION

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 21.—In a speech devoted primarily to a discussion of the need for economic preparedness in the United States, President Wilson told a delegation of farmers, architects and engineers here today that he did not expect the United States to get into war.

"I know that the way in which we have preserved peace is objected to," said the president, "and that certain gentlemen say they would have taken some other way that would inevitably have resulted in war, but I am not expecting to get into war, partly because I am not expecting these gentlemen to have a chance to make a mess of it."

Taking the work done by the administration for the farmers as his text, Mr. Wilson declared:

"We want the privilege of representing the whole force of the nation."

He demanded that men be put upon a "third degree" in respect to where they stand with regard to love of the United States and said he was glad the campaign was nearly over, "because I am in a hurry to get down to business again."

The occasion of the president's address was the celebration of farmers' day at Shadow Lawn, but a delegation of architects and engineers from New York led by a band, came to the west end railroad station and marched to the president's summer home to hear the address.

Farmers from New Jersey and other nearby states came to the celebration. In his speech President Wilson said in part:

"We owe this much to our Republican predecessors, that they exercised such long and systematic performance."

"This administration has had the singular advantage of having a great body of national sentiment behind it, which had long stood ready to support such measures as it adopted."

"You as farmers never were told, I take it, that you were getting the direct benefit of the tariff. You were told you were getting the indirect benefit of the tariff. You were getting it with extreme indirectness, because you were getting it by having duties placed upon almost everything you had to use was enhanced, and you were promised hardly more than this—that if the country prospered you would necessarily prosper with the country—but you would pay for the prosperity at a very considerable price. That was not added but that was implied."

"And the whole point of view of our legislation has been this, that a special set of men, who thought they could guide the nation better than anybody else, are proffered to guide it in private, asked certain chief beneficiaries of the tariff to come together and suggest what the schedules of the tariff should be. So that these gentlemen have the idea that I have several times pointed out that it was best for us to be in the hands of guardians. Now I for one have come of age some time ago and I decline to live as a ward. I insist upon living as a grownup individual ready to take my part in the councils of the nation and to insist that I be considered as nearly as possible on a par with the rest of the world."

"The agricultural product of this country," he continued, "judged by our opportunities and our soil and our native capacity, ought to be twice what they are at present and instead of the possibility of shortage there ought always to be the certainty of the exportation of large bodies of grain from the United States."

"So that what we are trying to do all along the line is to establish co-operation, general development, common counsel, and what I would be glad to have you gentlemen understand is that that is exactly the formula that fits everything that we have been trying to do. We have been trying to take the government of this country out of the control and from the guidance of small groups and square it with the counsel of the whole nation."

FAVOR INTERNATIONAL COURT TO KEEP PEACE

Committee Submits Report To Episcopal Convention

Minister Raises Question as to Whether Class of Motion Picture Films In the United States is Improving—Many Discuss Prohibition.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 21.—Establishment of an international court having jurisdiction over all nations of the world, in the same way that the United States supreme court has jurisdiction over all of the states of the union, was suggested as a practical method of preventing war in a report submitted to the house of deputies, of the Protestant Episcopal general convention today. The report was presented by the commission on minimizing war.

Whether the class of motion picture films shown in the United States is improving was a question raised by the submission of a resolution by Rev. E. V. Shaylor of Seattle. This resolution which was adopted directed the church social service commission to arrange conditions to create a national board of censors and asserted that while admitting the beneficial effects of some pictures declared a number are being presented showing "distorted views of affection; suggestions of lust and license and details which combine to develop a school of crime."

The clergy and laity of the church are urged in a resolution adopted by the house of deputies to the "rigid observance in all social habits of those Christian principles which make for sobriety, purity and holiness in life. The resolution asserted "there is a conspicuous laxity" in the observance of such laws in the United States "manifesting itself in the increasing tendency to divorce and the dishonor of Sunday."

"American life," it asserted, "is marked in a vulgar and flagrant way by ostentatious luxury and prodigal extravagance, creating false standards of living and tending to make more evident the cleavage between rich and poor."

Prohibition probably will be discussed before the convention next week.

A memorial, submitted to the house of deputies by the church temperance society today was referred to committee to be reported later in the session. The memorial, in effect asked that the house endorse the prohibition movement.

Detroit, Mich., was chosen finally as the place of the next general convention, when the house of deputies concurred today with the house of bishops in its selection. The next convention will be in October, 1919.

WILL FORM BRANCH OF DIAGONAL TRAIL

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 21.—Organization of the Peoria-Danville branch of the Diagonal Trail will be perfected at Champaign next Saturday by representatives of each town between these two cities following a meeting here today, when the route was decided for this division of the national highway, which reaches from Seattle, Wash., to Miami, Fla. Assistant superintendents were named and the route will be blazed. A lively contest between Mackinaw and Carlock for the right-of-way resulted in favor of Carlock as there were fewer railroad crossings, and but one hill of consequence. The towns selected for the route include Peoria, Cloverdale, Morton, Deer Creek, Champaign, Carlock, Yutan, Bloomington, LeRoy, Mansfield, Champaign, Urbana, Fithian and Danville.

Moffitt and James A. Smyth of the staff of Secretary of Labor Wilson, declined to discuss the subject.

TRANSLATE GENERAL CARRANZA'S DECREE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 21.—General Carranza's decree of Oct. 9, suspending constitutional guarantees throughout Mexico, as translated and laid before the Mexican joint committee on today, provides that for nearly all offenses not covered by the civil code, summary punishment may be inflicted by the military authorities. Interference with railway traffic, robbery, incendiarism and assault in its various forms are characterized as crimes punishable by death without the formality of trial when the evidence is apparent. In no case has the accused a right to appeal.

El Paso, Texas, Oct. 21.—Gov. Frank M. Byrne of South Dakota, was elected president of the International Dry Farming Congress here today. The eleventh congress closed tonight.

"We have been trying to make a partnership of it and I am glad to say we have succeeded."

ADMITS MURDERING WIFE AND STEPSON

Aged Los Angeles Man Walks Into His Attorney's Office and Confesses

CLAIMS SELF-DEFENSE

Burns Bodies On Pile of Burning Brush Before They Were Dead

BURIED ASHES IN YARD

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 21.—Arrested tonight on complaint of the district attorney, Benton L. Barrett, aged 64, a man of wealth, was charged with the murder of his wife and stepson at Santa Monica last week. Before the two were dead, the police allege Barrett cremated their bodies.

Barrett walked into the office of his attorney, Lewis D. Collins, late today, and, according to his counsel confessed to the double murder. Mr. Collins communicated with the district attorney and at the latter's request took Barrett to the court house.

After hearing the aged man's story, the district attorney issued the complaint upon which Barrett was lodged in the county jail.

Barrett came here several years ago from Circleville, Ind. Mrs. Barrett, before her marriage, was a widow, Mrs. Irene L. Rodgers, of Mount Aetna, Ind.

The district attorney and Mr. Collins allege Barrett said to them that on last Wednesday while he was burning brush, Mrs. Barrett attacked him with a butcher knife and when he defended himself her son came to his mother's assistance with an ax handle.

Barrett said, according to his alleged confession:

"I knocked my wife down with my fist and hit the boy with a board found lying on the ground. I was so incensed I didn't know what I was doing. Then I picked up the knife and stabbed her and before she was dead I threw her body into the flames. The boy was unconscious and I threw his body on the fire. They did not burn quickly enough so I gathered some railroad ties and after their bodies were consumed I buried the ashes on the rear of the lawn."

After Barrett's alleged confession, detectives recovered two fragments of bone and a dozen teeth at the place Barrett was said to have concealed the ashes.

Recently Mrs. Barrett filed a suit in which she alleged she had been compelled by her husband to sign away title to property amounting to $25,000 and her action was to recover this amount. Following the filing of her suit, Barrett announced that he would institute suit for divorce.

OFFICERS SPIRIT PRISONER FROM JAILS

Threats of Lynching Cause Officers to Transfer Man Who Confessed to Holding up Car and Killing Conductor.

Joplin, Mo., Oct. 21.—Threats of lynching tonight caused state officers to spirit J. B. Johnson from one jail to another until he had been transferred to Carthage and from Carthage to another place kept secret. Johnson confessed he was the man who today held up an interurban electric car near Lakeside, 11 miles east of Joplin, killed the conductor, Robert Schweitzer of Webb City according to officers. He told the officers, they said, that he was intoxicated at the time.

Johnson was captured an hour after the holdup by Oil Rogers, a Webb City constable, who took him prisoner to Webb City. Immediately a large and threatening crowd formed and Johnson was hurried to Carthage. Feeling there was strong all-out and it was decided tonight the prisoner should be taken elsewhere.

War News Summarized

Between the Ancre river and the Pozieres-Bapaume road on the Somme front in Northern France, British troops, after successfully checking an offensive movement by the forces of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, attacked successfully and pushed forward from 300 to 500 yards on a front of 5,000 yards. The advance was made between LeSars and the Schwaben redoubt, which was the scene of the earlier attack by the Germans. General Haig's men captured the St. Quentin trenches, advanced past north and northeast of the Schwaben redoubt, and several hundred prisoners.

The Germans also attacked strongly the French positions at Sailly-Saillais on the Bapaume-Peronne road as well as positions between Blaches and LaMaisonnette, near Peronne. The attackers were repulsed generally, but Paris admits they gained a footing north of Blaise wood. The French succeeded in an attack further south and gained possession of a wood north of Chaules.

Striking hard against the Russian and Rumanian line in Dobruja Field Marshal Von Mackensen has renewed successfully his offensive toward the Constanta-Tchernavoda railroad. Attacking along the forty mile front, the forces of the central powers have made good progress. On the Danube the allied German, Bulgarian and Turkish troops, have forced their way into the entente positions south of Rachova. Along the Black Sea on the other end of the line, Tula was captured and several heights further inland were conquered. Several hundred Rumanians and 3,000 Russians were taken prisoner, Berlin records.

The Rumanians have been pressed back on their center and left wing, Bucharest admits. Petrograd says the Teutonic attack resulted in the loss of the village of Kosardja. Later attacks were repulsed.

In Southern Serbia, south of Monastir, the Serbians continue to advance against the stubborn resistance of the Bulgarian force. Having crossed the Cerna river in the bend at Bile, the Serbs now are about four miles north of there.

French troops, it is reported unofficially, are aiding the Serbians in the Kenal region, along the Florina-Monastir railroad.

Fighting continues along the Transylvanian-Rumanian border, with successes for both the Rumanians and the Teutonic troops. The Rumanians have taken several important positions along the front, in addition to more than 600 prisoners. In the Buzen Valley, south of Kronstadt, however, Bucharest admits, the Rumanians have been compelled to withdraw.

Berlin and Petrograd report the repulse of attacks in Galicia and Volhynia and Berlin claims the capture of Russian positions on the Narayauka river in the region of Halicz.

STORM CLAIMS TWO BOATS AND SIX LIVES

Gale Sweeping Over Lakes Erie and Huron Subdues Considerably.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—The terrific storm which swept over Lakes Erie and Huron yesterday and early today had subdued considerably to night.

Two small boats and six lives were claimed by the gale.

The vessels sunk were the barge D. L. Filer of Chicago, and the steamer Marshall F. Butters of Michigan.

Captain John Mattison of Muskegon, master of the Filer, sole survivor, was rescued by the Detroit and Cleveland passenger steamer Western States.

The tug Shaun Rhue of Detroit, is pounding on the shore at Pelee Island. She was beached there today by her 75 year old captain, Robert Maines, of Buffalo. When the tug C. W. Endress of Kingsville, Ont., approached the disabled Shaun Rhue this morning, Captain Maines refused to leave his boat. Five of his crew went aboard the tug but the engineer and cook stayed with their captain. After a perilous trip the Shaun Rhue was towed to Pelee Island by the Endress.

The steamer Olcott of the Pittsburgh Steamship company is aground in the Straits of Mackinac. It may be necessary to remove her cargo before the freighter can be released.

SUFFRAGISTS SPLIT INTO THREE FACTIONS

Divide On Question of How To Extend Suffrage In Illinois

Mrs. Trout Leads Faction Demanding a Constitutional Convention—Board of Directors to Choose Next Year's Meeting Place.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 21.—The suffragists of Illinois, as the result of today's developments, are divided into three factions over the important question of how to extend woman suffrage in this state.

One faction, led by Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, elected president of the Illinois Equal Suffrage Association at the convention in this city today, is demanding a constitutional convention.

Another faction, led by Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch of Evans-ton, who met decisive defeat in her efforts to have the convention declare for a full suffrage amendment, today organized and had incorporated the suffrage amendment alliance, the purpose of which is to place before the voters a suffrage amendment.

Still another group, represented by members of the Woman's Congressional Union interests, state it is marshaling its forces for the federal amendment.

Knowing they would have little show on the floor of the convention, this group was not in evidence during the sessions, but immediately after the convention had adjourned, they held an independent meeting in the house of representatives, in which the equal suffrage association had been meeting for three days, and there, with many of the equal suffrage association members in attendance, presented their arguments.

The Illinois Equal Suffrage Association this morning went on record in favor of a constitutional convention, leaving to the board of directors the decision as to what suffrage legislation will be proposed at the next general assembly. While this was being done Mrs. McCulloch was having her new suffrage alliance incorporated in the secretary of state's office on the floor below.

Mrs. Trout, the new president, will be head of the board of directors, and since she strongly favors the amendment to the amending clause, it is said legislation to this end will be asked from the next legislature.

The passage of the constitutional convention resolution which was introduced by Mrs. George Soden of Chicago, chairman of the resolutions committee, was the most important transaction of the final day of the suffrage convention. The list of officers, headed by Mrs. Trout, nominated Thursday, was elected.

In discussing ways of spreading the suffrage propaganda, the chauntauqua platform was strongly recommended, and as the result of the discussion it is probable some effort will be made to put suffrage speakers on the chauntauqua circuits next summer.

Selection of next year's meeting place was left to the board of directors.

EIGHT FREIGHT CARS IN WRECK

Empties on Wabash Piled up Near North East Street.

Eight cars of Wabash extra freight No. 2454, west bound were derailed at the North East street crossing about 9:15 o'clock Saturday night. It is not known what caused the accident but Conductor McCoy in charge of the train is of the opinion that some one threw the switch under the train.

The train was going in on a siding from the switch just east of North East street. In some manner the switch for the siding north of the one used by the train was thrown and the cars started on that track. They began piling up just west of East street.

Some of the cars ran into the sand yard north of the tracks and others were piled up on the tracks. All of the cars were headed north when they stopped. Trucks were torn off and the cars were badly wrecked. The main track was blocked and it was several hours before the wreckage was cleared. All of the wrecked cars were empty.

ROOSEVELT SPEAKS AT PHOENIX, ARIZ.

Asserts Wilson Speaks Bombastically and Wields Dish Rag

STORES ARE CLOSED

Towns Along Route Turn Out At Stations Until He Reached Phoenix

GOES TO ALBUQUERQUE

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 12.—Col.

Theodore Roosevelt reached his westernmost point in the present campaign today, delivered a speech in which he arraigned the present administration and repeated his declaration that "when I was president I spoke softly and carried a big stick. President Wilson speaks bombastically and wields a dish rag."

The merchants here closed their stores during the address and towns along the route from daylight until he reached Phoenix at noon, turned out at the stations.

Colonel Roosevelt's auditors were crowded into a vacant city block. Colonel Roosevelt is to leave here early tomorrow for Albuquerque, N. M.

"What has happened to our people in Mexico and here along the border, offers the clearest possible illustration of what happens to any nation whose government behaves with vacillation and timidity shown by Mr. Wilson in our foreign affairs wherever he has had to deal with any foe of whom he was in the slightest degree afraid."

Other Foreigners.

"In Mexico when the revolution gathered headway, there were many foreigners. There were English, Germans, Japanese and French. There were also Americans, Spaniards and Chinese. Mexico was afraid of and respected Germany, England, Japan and France. She neither feared nor respected the United States or China; and she did not believe that Spain at the moment could act against her. In consequence it appears that during these disturbances, as far as can be gathered, there has not been one German killed in Mexico, and only one Englishman and two Frenchmen. I can not find that any Japanese were killed. These figures may not be quite accurate, but they are substantially accurate."

"The minute the Frenchmen were killed, the French government served such summary notice on Mexico that it has been exceedingly careful not to kill any others. When the Englishman, Benton, was killed, not many in England flame up, but it is actually true that the interest was excited in this country than was shown over all of our own men, women and children who were killed in Mexico. There have been no further outrages on the lives of British subjects. The Germans are not only safe, but at Tampico, for instance, enjoy special privileges. The Japanese enjoy the same consideration."

The Records of Deaths.

"But meanwhile, according to the best information at our disposal, the Mexicans have killed over three hundred Chinese; over five hundred Americans, and at least a couple of hundred Spaniards. I ask you to consider these facts. The Mexicans have not killed a single German, and only one Englishman. But they have killed several hundred Americans and several hundred Chinese. They class the Germans and Englishmen as belonging to nations able to protect the lives of their citizens; whereas, thanks to Mr. Wilson, they regard the Americans and the Chinese as equally safe to murder, outrage and plunder. I ask the people of this country to consider these facts for themselves, and to draw their own conclusions; and if they have ordinary self-respect, if they have feelings of ordinary patriotism, they can not consent to continue in power the administration that is responsible for such a condition of affairs."

"The natural effect of this policy is shown by the fact that it is no longer safe for foreign companies in Mexico to have American employees, or to be operated under an American name. Instance after instance of this kind has been brought to my attention with the personal request that I do not use it for fear that damage should come to those giving me the information. ***

"It can not be a matter of indifference to us what kind of a government arises in Mexico. Mexico's geographical and physical relations with the Panama Canal represent to the United States the Balkans and Asia sent to Europe. The treaties and the Suez prize, valuable as a Monopoly is valuable to 10c and 5c, profit and no struggle in a decade of world war's sink."

The Proposed Anti-Tuberculosis Fund.

It is to be hoped that all citizens of Morgan county, regardless of political affiliations, will vote at the coming election for the levying of a tax to establish a tuberculosis sanitarium for the county.

The legislature passed a law at the last session enabling voters to establish sanitariums in both cities and counties. This law evidently was passed after careful study and the compiling of statistics by experts qualified to do the work.

Until recent years little attention was paid to tuberculosis, tho each year it caused more deaths than all other diseases combined. Even the medical profession a decade ago did not give much attention to the study of the disease and methods of its prevention. Recently, however, more attention has been given to the disease and the result has been that instead of being regarded as an incurable disease, it has been found that it not only can be cured but that in most instances it can be prevented.

It would mean that every citizen of the county should favor a vote that would establish a local sanitarium. Few, if any families if their histories were traced back, would find themselves free of the tubercular taint. A family whose members are well and healthy today may six months hence have a well developed case of tuberculosis. When that time arrives it means that the afflicted one must either be sent away to some distant state at great expense, or else be kept at home where all of the family are likely to become infected.

It is the purpose of a county sanitarium to take care of all cases of tuberculosis. Especially those cases where the relatives cannot spare the money to send them to Colorado or

MAKING GOOD.

I bought an ax of Ezra Wax, who said to me, "Now, sonny, if it's no good at chopping wood, come back and get your money. If I sell junk that turns out punk, the buyer is no loser. I'll make it good, as dealers should—I'm that sort of a snoozer." With that new ax I took some whacks at divers kinds of lumber; the edge was spoiled, and I was rolled, and said things without number. I took the ax to Ezra Wax, and showed him it was pestered, and for an hour, with wrathful power, I roared like baseball rooter. My spiel he heard; without a word, he handed me a new one; an ax so neat, so bright, so sweet, a keen one and a true one! Said Ezra Wax, "You bet your yaks, warthogs and dromedaries, that I make good, as dealers should—my system never varies!" I buy my tacks of Ezra Wax, my whingers and my whistles, my hoes and rakes and oil meal cakes, my seed of grass and thistles. He would not break the pledge he'd make, or tramp a promise under, so I make tracks to Ezra Wax for every kind of plunder.

other points. Even for those who can send the loved ones away, would they not rather have them near, where they can visit them and give them the little things and the attentions that make the invalid so happy and brings so much cheer to the heart.

The voting of a small tax will enable you to do that. Illinois is far behind other states in the care of its tubercular citizens. But it is rapidly awakening. Shall Morgan county be laggard in her plain duty? We do not believe she will.

At the election November 7, the question of levying a tax to establish a tubercular sanitarium will be submitted to the voters of the county for approval. The question will be on a separate ballot. It should not be necessary for a voter to ask the judges to give them this ballot. Under the law the judges are sworn to tender ballots to each voter for all questions to be voted on. If you don't get the ballot ask for it and vote YES.

Unfair to Dr. Gladden

Wide circulation seems to have been given to the protests of Reverend Dr. Washington Gladden against what he calls the "vilification" of President Wilson. Dr. Gladden is widely known, and deservedly so, for he has been an able exponent of fine and practical Christianity, but one feels inclined in this case to ask in the words of Emerson—"Why so hot? why so hot, little man?" "Vilification" seems a bit of an exaggeration in connection with the treatment of Mr. Wilson by his opponents, when all the circumstances are taken into account. Some of his more celebrated predecessors in his high office were certainly "vilified" and for less cause, and in ways which true Americans are ashamed now to remember. Washington's carriage was stoned; Jackson was hanged in effigy; Cleveland's private life was hung up in the wind.

Considering the disappointment in Mr. Wilson which many Republicans and Progressives have come to feel who turned down men like Taft and Roosevelt to support him, the restraint put upon their natural resentment has been quite commendable. They have passed over in silence several very vulnerable and tender spots in Mr. Wilson's exhibitions of human fallibility. And that is as it should be with gentlemen, in this crisis. Even very severe criticism of Mr. Wilson's fitness as displayed in public acts can hardly be called "vilification," and how long has it been since such criticism has been counted the lese majeste which Mr. Gladden and Mr. Marshall seem to want Americans to regard it. They are asking too much.

In view of the deservedly high esteem in which Dr. Gladden is still held, as well as the failure of power of judgment which advanced age inevitably brings, one would not want to be too hard on him. Some eccentricities always are likely to attach themselves to such somewhat radical and idealistic temperaments as his. As an illustration of this one has only to cite his attitude toward so-called "tainted money" and his connection with the late Peace Embassy fiasco of Henry Ford. Most people of sense, not excited by partisanship, are inclined to smile pathetically rather than to sympathize with this super-sensitiveness of Mr. Wilson. The calm self-complacency with which the President seems to be able to shed his critics severest attacks should make his ardent admirers less touchy about him.

"The Mexican Inquiry."

Colonel Roosevelt, speaking in New Mexico last night, gave answer to the often quoted claim made for President Wilson that he kept us out of war. No comment is needed to make clear the colonel's "out from the shoulder" words.

Mr. Wilson says he has "kept us out of war." The Democratic platform says that the Mexicans "have made war upon and murdered our people." For once the Democratic platform told the truth. Mr. Wilson says that some of the murdered men were barbarously mutilated.

"Mr. Wilson and his followers are fond of asking, when we criticize his action, 'What would you have done?' Either one of two courses could properly have been followed. It would have been defensible to have recognized Huerta in view of the fact that other great powers had recognized him; and, of course, it was quite indefensible to refuse to recognize him, and yet recognize Benavides in Peru, and Carranza in Mexico. In such event we would have held Huerta to 'strict responsibility' by acts, for restoring order in Mexico and for protecting American life and property.

"This course would have been defensible. Personally, it seems to me that it would have been even better to have done exactly what Mr. Wilson said he would do, but did not do. He sent to the American Consul-General and Consular Agents in Mexico two telegrams instructing them to notify all officials, military or civil, exercising authority, that they would be held strictly responsible for any harm done to Americans or for injury to their property. These were fine words. Excellent words! The trouble is that neither the promises and menaces of President Wilson, nor the pledges in the Democratic platform, were worth the paper on which they were written, nor the breath expended in uttering them."

Mr. Walker's Evidence.

Peoria Star:—It remained for Mr. John Walker, president of the State Federation of Labor to furnish convincing proof of the disastrous effects of the Underwood tariff law upon the people of the United States. M.

In his annual report to his convention at Quincy, Mr. Walker declared that the last year had shown an increase in membership in the State Federation of Labor, but that the preceding year had shown a marked decrease in membership, owing to the fact that so many men were out of work. The "preceding year" referred to by Mr. Walker was the year before the outbreak of the European war. It was the first year the Underwood law went into effect and that effect was movingly set forth by Mr. Walker in his report to his own convention. That same year a hundred thousand men walked the streets of Chicago out of work. These men the outbreak of the war came as a blessing. It furnished them work at remunerative wages, and the democratic administration now has the effrontery to say that this work and this prosperity are due to the effect of its tariff legislation. No sane man will be deceived by such a statement.

Mr. Vanderlip on Government Ownership.

When such an eminent authority as Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank of New York, speaks on any subject his words are well worthy of most careful consideration. In the opinion of this great financier government ownership of railroads in this country would be a tragedy, and exclusive federal control would not solve the difficulty that the selfishness of the public, the stockholders, wage earners and politicians which, thru joint action, cause the trouble for the railroads. "It is a fact known in the financial world that investors are not giving their support to the railroads to put them into condition to meet the demands of business. Railroad development can not stand still without a crash, and in view of present conditions we are going somewhere, but I do not know where. We heard something the other day in Washington about the possibility of enforcing arbitration, and it was also said that a man can not be subjected to involuntary servitude. Neither can you subject a dollar to involuntary servitude. There are 42,000 miles of railroads in this country now in the hands of receivers, and whereas we ought to be building 200,000 freight cars a year, last year only 74,000 were constructed."

Considering these figures it is easy enough to see the cause of the acute car shortage, which is a contributing cause to their high cost of living.

Mr. Robinson's Good Record.

Carl E. Robinson continues to make a notable showing in his campaign for election as state's attorney of this county. Here in this county with its local educational institutions, the people have come to have confidence in the many students who work their way thru college and because of the sturdy characteristics developed during their college course, become especially useful and successful citizens. This counts in some measure for the confidence the people have in Mr. Robinson locally. They are familiar with the fact that after years of youth spent at ordinary manual labor, that he came to college, and with the characteristics which have given him certain advances since, made his way thru. The same characteristics were his as a teacher, in law school and have dominated his practice since admission to the bar.

Carl Robinson has character, stability, energy, knowledge of the law—in fact, those characteristics which give assurance that as state's attorney he would have an eye single to the duties of office and his obligation to the public.

Lowden's Wealth.

The main effort of the Democratic press continues to be centered against Lowden, Republican candidate for governor, because he is a rich man. The candidate must plead guilty to the charge. Even Democratic newspaper talks about the candidate's great estate and his millions. No charge has ever been made that he attained his wealth in any illegitimate business way. Under the present Illinois primary it is impossible for a candidate for governor to make a campaign without the expenditure of very large sums of money. Isn't a candidate preferable who is able to make this expenditure from his own resources and thus be in a better position to give the affairs of the state his unbiased attention, than if his campaign expenses have been paid largely by his friend?

Mr. Magill Knows County Affairs.

Charles Magill, who is the Republican candidate for county commissioner, is making an active canvass. Mr. Magill has been a resident of the county for a great many years and term after term has served as road commissioner of the district in which he lives east of Jacksonville. There his services have been of a fine order and he has come into an accurate knowledge of county business. He is a strong, efficient, likable man and if honored by the voters at the election November 7 will give his best attention to the important business of the county. The indications are that Mr. Magill will receive a great many Democratic votes in addition to those of his own party, because of the fact that many people believe that both parties should be represented on the board, and the two members who will hold over in office are Democratic.

A Notable Cartoon Summary.

The Globe Democrat, in a cartoon on the editorial page yesterday, summed up in a notable way the Mexican situation that Colonel Roosevelt discussed so ably Saturday under the caption, "The Inquiry of Mexico." The Globe's cartoon shows a picture of Wilson standing beside Uncle Sam. "I kept you out of war, didn't I?" is the president's question, and Uncle Sam's reply is, "But what have you done with my self respect?" and in Uncle Sam's hand is a placard with the significant words, "Carranza, Vera Cruz, Santa Ysabel, Parral, Columbus, N. M."

ROOSEVELT SPEAKS AT PHOENIX, ARIZ.

show ourselves too feeble to restore order, then sooner or later some old world military power will itself step in and take possession, with results as disastrous to us as the anarchy in the Balkan peninsula has been disastrous to Europe.

Mexico Could Aid United States. Mexico, like Asia Minor, is a mountainous peninsula. It dominates the Caribbean and has immediate access to both ends of the Panama canal. The government in Mexico must necessarily interact with and upon the governments and population of the northern half of the South American continent. A strong and stable government in Mexico, working in harmonious relations with the United States, could establish security for property and make it possible for American enterprise to carry railroads, irrigation works and other benefits of civilization into that territory. The development of the Mexican railroad net would enable the United States, in case the need ever arose, to help ward off aggression by a foreign power.

"A railroad extending to the Panama would give us access by land to the canal, with which the future of the United States is so intimately bound up. Such a Mexican government, representing the best forces of that country, would be eager to work with us by the free exchange of what they have to give in return for the advantages of what we can offer them. Such a government would be of incalculable benefit to Mexico itself, and would also add greatly to the security of the United States. A week, disorganized Mexican government as a willing or unwilling ally of a foreign power, hostile to our country, might do us irreparable damage.

Long-Sighted Policy Needed. "It will take foresight, intelligence and self-sacrifice on the part of our statesmen and our people to solve these problems in the right way now so as to ward off danger in the future. President Wilson's policies have been without plan or purpose; he has not looked beyond tomorrow; he has had no objects aside from momentary political profit at home, and possibly the gratification of personal spite towards or personal favoritism for some particular bandit. His attitude has shifted hither and thither. At an enormous expense to all that is good and stable in Mexico and at a terrible cost of American lives, property and prestige he has lifted Carranza into power.

"Through the maneuvering of an A-B-C convention he placed him upon his shaky pedestal and today by the expedient of another I-O-U convention he is trying to prop and bolster the tottering structure. Yet at this very time, Carranza's government, which is wholly the child of President Wilson's diplomacy, turns against us, and thereby foreshadows the course that this same man Carranza would take if, by the aid of such loans, as it has been vaguely hinted that the present administration is trying to secure for him in financial circles his government would become strong. This is shown in the New York World, Wilson's administration organ.

"In a dispatch from its special representative at Newport, on October 10th, it set forth that as soon as the German submarines began to operate off the coast, the Carranza delegates at the conference 'became elated at the prospect of this country becoming involved in further international entanglements and their attitude stiffened considerably.' The threat thus revealed in the attitude of these Carranza agents is a sinister omen of the future danger that lurks in Mr. Wilson's diplomacy. Some day this diplomacy will be paid for by this country in the bloodshed, suffering and disaster of war."

JACKSONVILLE DEFEATED
CARROLLTON

With several second string men in the lineup Jacksonville High school football team defeated Carrollton at Carrollton Saturday afternoon by a score of 43 to 7. Coach Hufford took several substitutes with the team and all of them were given an opportunity to get in the game. Hull was unable to accompany the team and Hunt played at fullback.

All of the Jacksonville team played good football and Carrollton's only score was made on a fluke. Ferguson featured the game when he intercepted a forward pass and ran 75 yards for a touchdown. Jacksonville tried only two forward passes in the game and both of them worked. Only one punt was made in the entire game and that was by Carrollton.

ENGLISHMAN HERE HAS SIX SONS IN GREAT WAR

Thomas Reynolds Visits Relatives in Morgan County—Came to County to See Brother After Separation of Thirty Five Years.

Answering the call of an only brother, the veteran Thomas Reynolds of Swansea, Wales started for America a few weeks ago and last evening landed at the home of his cousin, R. C. Reynolds on West College avenue. The visitor is a sturdy son of Great Britain and the seventy years of age is hale and hearty and gives promise of many years of activity yet. He is a nephew of the late Ralph Reynolds and enough like him to be an own brother.

He is connected with the big firm Silcox & Sons, Liverpool, manufacturers of oil cake and dealers in all kinds of feed. Mr. Reynolds thought he was about ready to give up active business but when the war broke out patriotism triumphed over all other considerations. He is the father of seven sons and four daughters and six of his sons are serving their country: one with the army in France; one in Egypt; one in Salonica, Greece; two in munition factories in the mother country, one in the admiralty service in London. He would much like to keep the remaining son if he could but if the boy has to go he will assume the care of the great business cheerfully and give up the son. The others volunteered and the last one will not have to be conscripted. He would have enlisted himself, he says, if they would have taken him.

Mr. Reynolds had quite a time getting away from England. He wrote to the home office for a passport and had to give date and place of nativity, height, color of eyes and hair, complexion, general appearance and so on. Had to tell how much money he had in his pocket, who was paying his fare and so on all of which being answered in the manner desired he had a formidable document signed by Viscount Grey permitting him to go. His photograph and signature occupy a prominent place also.

He left home Sept. 20th, for Liverpool, where he sailed under the U. S. flag on the steamship Finland and had a pleasant passage to New York where he landed Sunday morning, Oct. 1st. That afternoon he set out for Chicago and from that place to Morrisville, Iowa, near which lives his brother, Lazarus, an extensive land owner whom he had not seen for 35 years, arriving Tuesday morning. He had a pleasant visit there and last Sunday his cousin, Ralph, residing southeast of Jacksonville, left on the Wabash fast mail and making two fortunate changes and making two fortunate changes morning. Two days were spent there, and then they left for Des Moines to visit a cousin, Wm. Davidson; then to Kansas City to visit another cousin, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Stevenson, two days and then for Jacksonville which they reached yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Reynolds is in haste to get back and expects to leave Wednesday and sail Saturday from New York on the steamer City of New York, American line, as he finds great satisfaction sailing under the American flag.

Speaking of conditions in England Mr. Reynolds said business was active and prices ruling high. He had no idea when the dreadful war would end but felt confident that the Allies have just as good soldiers as Germany and longer purses and consequently if from no other reason the war will end in favor of the allies for Germany will be bankrupt before long. Although England has sent so many men into the army she has lots left yet. The people are patriotic and nearly every home has given one or more soldiers to the army and sadness exists in many hearts but there is through the land a determination to stand by the government and fight to the bitter end. England united with the other nations to protect Belgium and she will stand by her colors not regarding a solemn promise a mere "scrap of paper."

The old gentleman said many times during the conversation with the Journal reporter that England had the best of governments and men of grand ability to handle her affairs. Especially does he extol Premier Asquith, Viscount Grey and Lloyd George, without disparaging any others.

Some twenty years ago he was invited to a large gathering on the estate of Col. Hughes where a vast throng was welcomed and entertained. With a few especially honored guests he was invited to remain after the throng had gone and have a cup of tea. Lloyd George was one of the little number and as they were leaving the host remarked of Lloyd-George, "That man will be heard from some day" and the prediction has come wonderfully true. A great loss was sustained in the death of Lord Kitchener but others have arisen to take his place.

England cares for her soldiers in the best possible manner in the way of food and clothes hospitals and care for the sick. Such great secrecy is maintained that it is hard to get much information regarding the men at the front. One little incident leaked out. The son in France was fighting with the others and advancing to a village they hunted for something to eat. They were sitting at an improvised board table, two others with young Reynolds, when a shell burst near them piercing the man next to him to the heart and seriously wounding the one on the other side while the teeth of Reynolds were injured but he was not seriously wounded.

Impressed With U. S.
Mr. Reynolds is profoundly impressed by the magnitude and all general conditions of the United States, which he regards as a grand country. Its vast size, its fertile fields and abundant resources are source of never ending wonder to him. He saw much during his last visit 35 years ago but didn't realize what was to be the future of the land as he now sees it. He is a fine specimen of the sturdy Briton and a gentleman whom it is indeed a pleasure to meet.

FORMER STUDENT MAKES SUCCESS IN FEW YEARS

Edward Clifford Graduated Here Twenty Years Ago and Has Just Retired from Bond Business in Chicago With a Fortune.

The rise of Edward Clifford to prominence in the business world of Chicago furnishes a very interesting story. Not all the facts are at hand and these were not intended for publication, but so many people in Jacksonville and Virginia know both Mr. and Mrs. Clifford that some inkling of his success thru a newspaper story is entirely appropriate. Mr. Clifford graduated from Illinois college just twenty years ago that is, in the spring of 1896, and has recently retired from the bond business in Chicago after accumulating a fortune. Just how the figures run nobody hereabouts knows exactly, but his success amounts to several hundred thousand dollars.

After working his way thru Illinois college and teaching for a time in the school for the Blind, his same persistence took him thru the law department of the Washington University at St. Louis. He began the practice of law in Virginia and had not been there more than a year or two when he attracted the attention of Charles G. Dawes, subsequently comptroller of the currency and now the president of the Central Trust company in Chicago, who happened to be in Cass county on political business. The suggestion that the young man should be in Chicago came from Mr. Dawes, and after going there he enjoyed the friendship of Mr. Dawes and other men of like caliber.

For a number of years Mr. Clifford was Chicago manager for Hornblower & Weeks, dealers in bonds and stocks, and subsequently a partnership was formed with Mr. Elston under the firm name of Elston, Clifford & Co. Offices have been maintained in the New York Life building in Chicago and the business developed to such a degree that it extended to most of the principal cities in the United States. It was during the near panic of a few years ago that Mr. Clifford was directed by the eastern house of Hornblower & Weeks to formulate a report upon the financial situation in Chicago. With the ability and courage that have made for his success, Mr. Clifford was able to secure interviews with every prominent bank president in Chicago and on the basis of these interviews his report was made. The statement about that report did not come from Mr. Clifford but someone connected with the eastern office of the firm declared that it was the most comprehensive review of the situation they had been able to secure anywhere and was of the greatest value.

After the partnership was formed between Mr. Elston and Mr. Clifford the business developed rapidly and just recently the success noted was achieved, and Mr. Clifford altho but forty two years old, decided to retire from somewhat strenuous business life. He is now serving with the senatorial national committee in New York, but after the election in November he and Mrs. Clifford will go to Honolulu for the winter. With his restless energy and ability it is a safe guess that retirement from active business will not be of many months' duration.

SINCLAIR RUSSEL FARMS SECTION IN DAKOTA

Former Morgan County Resident Is Succeeding In North Country—
To Give More Attention to Livestock—Dakota Now More Favorable for Corn.

Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Russell, who have been visiting Morgan county relatives for several weeks past, having come particularly because of the death of Mrs. Russell's father, W. B. Wright, of Murrayville, will leave this week for their home near Mapes, N. D. Tomorrow they will go to Champaign to spend a few days at the home of Mrs. Bradley, a sister of Mr. Russell's mother.

Sold Wheat at $1.43.
Mr. Russell has good reason to be satisfied with his home in the north. After disposing of the farm property where he is now living and has been making quite extensive improvements since that time. The farm has paid well, but most of the money has gone into improvements. This past season Mr. Russell had 200 acres of wheat which did not produce an average yield because of the extremely hot weather. However, when threshing time came he was able to sell the crop at $1.43. This was an excellent price, especially when it was considered that the wheat was not of first-class quality and in fact graded No. 2.

Mr. Russell now has on hand a considerable quantity of barley and 5,000 bushels of oats from last year's crop. In addition to this year's crop, when he left home the price offered for oats was 38 cents a bushel, but this crop is now higher and has felt the impetus of the advancing price of corn and wheat. The two or three years that Mr. Russell and his family have been in Dakota have been very busy ones, as he has made an effort to have the greater part of the section of land under cultivation.

Will Feed Sheep.
Because of the increasing problem of getting proper help he has determined to have less acreage in cultivation and expects to plow about 300 acres for this coming year and put the remaining acreage in grass. This will mean some extensive livestock operations in his farming work. It is his expectation to have a large number of sheep, as the animals do particularly well in that climate, where it is cold, but dry. Sheep can stand cold weather, but do not do well at all in damp, chilly atmosphere or where the ground is continually muddy and wet.

The markets upon which the quotations for grain and livestock are based are in Minneapolis and Duluth and at all times the prices compare favorably with those offered by the markets available to farmers in this locality. Even since he has gone to Dakota Mr. Russell has noted climatic changes going on, and wheat does not do as well there now, in the country where it was once considered practically the only and staple crop, and on the other hand, the opportunities for raising corn have greatly improved.

Excellent Corn This Year.
This year there is excellent corn in the vicinity of Mapes and other parts of Dakota. In planting it is, of course, necessary to pay strict attention to the variety and seed, for corn must be selected which can withstand the rigors of the cold weather. First-class seed corn which has a guarantee that it has been acclimated and can flourish in that climate, sells anywhere from $7 to $10 per bushel. But the prices for the crop are good and the yield this year has been excellent. The result is certain to be a larger acreage of corn in Dakota this year and a lesser acreage of wheat. This will be particularly true in some areas where great damage was done by black rust. This did not affect the region in which Mr. Russell is living, but as already indicated, the yield was cut short to some extent by the extremely hot weather, which, for that matter, prevailed in all parts of the United States.

Seventy Five Cents for New Corn.
The price of corn has felt distinctly the increase of wheat and Morgan county elevators are now offering 75c for new corn. A considerable amount has been contracted at 60 and 65c, so that either the elevator men or the commission men in Chicago are going to make some money on the present market advance. Seventy five cents per bushel for new corn right out of the field is an enormous price, fully equal to 90 cents a few months later. The farmer who has even half a normal crop of corn this year is not in a bad way at all.

A Fine Jersey Herd.
Twenty eight head of Jersey milk cows belonging to the estate of the late Charles S. French and to Otis Johnson will be sold next Tuesday, October 24, at the farm three quarters of a mile southeast of Chapin. In addition to the milk cows the offerings include nine two year old heifers, seven one year old heifers, a number of calves and forty head of hogs. The stock is all pure bred and it is very seldom that such a large number of high grade cows are offered at one time in Morgan county. During the lifetime of C. S. French he took great interest in this stock and the partnership existing between himself and Mr. Johnson was profitable to both of them. Altho Mr. French did not take a very active part in the management of the herd he was a the farm almost every day and took pride in the constantly increasing quality which resulted from the proper management. In managing the affairs of the estate it is not possible for A. L. French to give any time to this dairy herd and for that reason the partnership between the estate and Mr. Johnson is to be dissolved.

Hog Prices Puzzle.
The hog market continues to be the subject of a great deal of speculation among farmers and stockmen. A reaction has come since the lower prices of two weeks ago and some commission houses openly predict that 12c hogs will be with us again in a few weeks' time. Other commission houses are not so sanguine but believe that the present price level will be practically maintained and that precedent will not be followed this year. The rule for many years past has been decidedly lower prices in October, November and December, with a recovery in January.

The present price that shippers can afford to pay in Morgan county is from 9 1/4 to 9 3/4 cents per hundred according to the class and condition of the hogs offered. One well known stockman said yesterday that he believed the market had reacted and the prices gone to higher figures because when the lower prices came two or three weeks ago too many half fat hogs were shipped to the packers. They are not the most profitable kind to kill and when the packing concerns want to acquire their surplus supply of pork they want animals weighing more than most of the present offerings. With this line of reasoning he firmly believes that lower prices will come a few weeks later when the hogs now on feed have been given some more corn and are in better shipping condition.

John F. Staff, who is one of the best posted stockmen in the county, commented yesterday upon the well known fact that farmers send more liberal shipments to market on a descending market than is true when prices are going up. The packers know this better than anybody else and so when they want large shipments they begin to hammer the prices and more hogs come in. When the needed supply has been received, in order to curtail shipments they begin to advance the prices.

DUTCH REJOICING OVER AGREEMENT WITH BRITAIN

Scheveningen, Netherlands, Oct.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Flags are flying from fishermen's homes all along the Dutch coast in celebration of the agreement arrived at with Great Britain on the herring fishery question.

When England's blockading warships some months ago began to take the squat Dutch smacks and luggers, into British ports, on the ground that ninety per cent of their catches was presumably destined for Germany, popular resentment in Holland rose to a high pitch. Fishing in the North Sea for a time practically came to a standstill.

The relief felt at the solution of the difficulty is great. The hundred or so detained craft have already been released by the British authorities, and the entire Dutch fishing fleet of over a thousand vessels is to be entirely free to again carry on its operations in the North Sea—always with the exception of the "forbidden zone."

Britain's conditions, stipulated with the Dutch fishing interests—the Netherlands government had nothing to do with the negotiations—are that from September 1 until the end of the war the catches shall be placed on the open market as heretofore, but that not more than 20 per cent thereof shall be sold to Germany. Home consumption will take another 20 per cent while England reserves the option to purchase a further 20 per cent, at prices ruling for Dutch buyers. The remaining 40 per cent may be disposed of to any and all countries not at war with Great Britain, and the British authorities bind themselves to pay the substantial subsidy of 30 shillings per barrel of 115 kilograms thus sold, to compensate for the higher prices that might have been obtained from Germany, reserving the right to do this in treasury notes of a year's term. Further, the owners whose ships were taken in are compensated for any damage incurred to nets and boats during such operation, while permission is again given to draw from England all the nets and other fishing gear required.

One of the indirect results of this settlement is that the Dutch hope to recapture the American market for Dutch salted herring—which had been lost to them owing to the fancy prices which German bidding had created. Before the war the United States was, next to Germany the best customer, taking 14,517 tons of herring in 1913. In 1915, American herring imports from Holland had dropped to 1,593 tons, and during the first seven months of 1916, only eight tons of Dutch herring found their way across the Atlantic.

German buying competition will now be excluded so far as 80 per cent of the catches is concerned, and it is hoped that the British subsidy which is something like the entire value of the product in normal times will enable dealers to find a big overseas market at moderate prices despite the high freight rates. It should however be added that outward freights have not risen in anything like the same proportion as those to Europe. In fact, almost half of the ships sailing from Dutch ports to trans-Atlantic destinations are in ballast.

Leading fishery interests in this country estimate that from now on until the end of the herring fishing season some 20,000 tons of salted herring will be shipped to America under the arrangement. This is figured on a basis of 30 to 35 per cent of an estimated total catch of half a million barrels.

The New Agriculture-- the Coming Science

The Journal presents herewith the first installment of an especially valuable paper on "The Science of Agriculture," written by Mrs. J. Marshall Miller. The paper was read at a recent meeting of the East Side Tuesday Club at the home of Miss Larimore. A number of the members of the club made the interesting request that the paper should be published in order to give it a wider circulation and the Journal was thus able to secure it from Mrs. Miller.

Scientists claim that primitive man was a meat eating animal, that primitive woman gathered some seeds and ate them to add variety to their diet. And so from gathering occasional seeds, she came to cook them; then to save the seeds for sowing and to care for the plants and at last in a rude way to cultivate the ground by scratching it with a stick, that her seeds might grow better.

It is a long way from the primitive woman, thus raising a few seeds of the hardier plants, along the lines of least resistance to the vast wheat and corn fields of our middle west and northwestern states.

The Bible tells us that Adam cultivated the soil and that he brought the fruits of the soil as an offering to God. It also speaks of Adam tilling the soil, but some scientists say Adam was not the first man. Even some theologians teach that the earth was inhabited long before Adam's day.

But I like to think of Adam as the first man of his dwelling in the Garden of Eden when all life, both animal and vegetable was perfect, when there were no seeds and briars to choke and crush out the life of the useful and beautiful plants. Of Adam after his fall remembering how beautiful was the Garden of Eden—how each fruit, and what each plant and seed and fruit was best adapted to. For Adam named the plants of the field, and must have known, not only their characteristics but of their needs and for what use they were created. God created all things with a purpose, and before the fall, all things were good, and there was not the strife for existence that we find in the vegetable kingdom today. As originally, so now, men must till the soil to obtain food. So when America was settled practically all men were farmers. And today it is hard to find in any city of our country people who for four or five generations have lived in America, without one or more of those generations having tilled the soil. We are a nation of farmers, or the descendants of farmers. After all, does not life in the open—tilling the soil, earning an honest living by the sweat of the brow, come nearer the life God intended man should live? There are very few who have not born in them a love of nature and a desire to be near her, and watch her workings, and to be one to help in her work.

Everyone has wished, sometime or other in his life, that he or she might live in the country. It is only when obstacles in country living have arisen, and attractions in the city have lured us away, that mankind is willing to live in crowded quarters with scarcely enough air to breathe. But even then a longing for the country life comes to almost everyone of us, no matter what his station in life may be. In our grandfather's day, we thought the resources of our land inexhaustible. Just so the Puritans thought the land of New England inexhaustible. But today much of New England is deserted farms, and ten years ago land there could be bought for almost nothing, usually for less than the cost of the improvements remaining thereon. Everyone said the land was worn out. Nothing could be raised on it. But the truth was the same kind of crops had been grown on the soil so long that the potash, nitrogen, phosphates and other qualities essential to plant life were gone.

As Americans, we are very slow to spend time and money and labor on anything except pleasure, unless we see that there is to be an early money return, sufficient to warrant the outlay. A few wealthy men came back to New England and bought country estates, spending only their summers there. Soon it was found that the land after lying idle a few years, would again produce crops, though not heavy ones. By analyzing the soil and learning just what was needed for the various crops, and supplying that need, the land became again productive and when used for truck farming, poultry raising and fruit growing, the convenient markets have made the effort a paying enterprise.

The soil must contain potash, phosphates and nitrogen for plant food, and humus to hold the moisture. Nothing puts nitrogen into the soil like crops of legumes, such as cowpeas, soy beans, winter vetch, the clovers and alfalfa. The roots of these plants when properly inoculated produce the needed bacteria for a rank growth of the plant by the bringing of the nitrogen from the air into the soil, and by plowing the crops under for humus the soil can be wonderfully fertilized at a minimum of labor and cost. In some soils it may be necessary for certain crops to neutralize the acidity of decayed vegetation by spreading a light coating of lime, in some form, over the lands. If crushed limestone is used probably from one to two tons per acre should be used; but a test should first be made with litmus paper to determine whether the soil is over acid or not.

Very much has been discovered by the experiments carried on in our agricultural experiment stations and laboratories, but much remains to be learned. For hundreds of years we have known that barn yard manure caused the various forms of plant life to thrive. Yet until recently many farmers were content to clean the lots and distribute the manure, usually in dry form, upon the lands in an indifferent sort of way once a year; there to lie on the surface and evaporate into the air. The better element of the manure was allowed to escape at the barns and feed lots. Sunshine and rain carried away the ammonia and other elements from the manure. No cement bins were provided and no roofs to protect the manure as it was collected, and no adequate means of its early removal and distribution were at hand. Mud, filth, flies and disease were the result, to say nothing of the discomfort to man and beast arising from such conditions about the barns and lots of the average farmer not a decade ago.

It has been said that the man who can make two blades of grass grow where there is now only one, is a great benefactor of mankind.

We are not now content with the two blades of grass but want four or five. As our population increases and the demand for food becomes greater, we must produce more on each acre of ground. James J. Hill said not many years since, that it would not long be a question of how to market the surplus products of American farms but a question of how to feed our own people. He thinks that day is almost upon us, when as a housekeeper I read of $1.70 corn and 94 cent corn, and contemplate what flour, meat, potatoes and shoes it will take for the family this winter.

Our vast grazing regions of the west are now practically all cut up into farms and instead of immense herds of cattle roaming over the western states and Canada, we have farms of wheat, corn, oats and tame grasses, with few cattle, comparatively. The result is there is not the great number of cattle shipped to the eastern markets for meat and leather and all the while our population increasing at a rapid rate, hence the advance in cost of meats and leather. Think of the wonderful consumption of leather in upholstering automobiles and just at the time when Europe has placed orders in this country for millions of shoes for her armies, and the shoes to be made of the best and most durable leather. The shoe factories find it pays better to fill orders for millions of pairs of shoes, all of the same style, shape and grade, than it does to make shoes of all shapes, styles and grades demanded by a whimsical public at home. We need not wonder at the high prices of shoes, rather that we can get shoes at all.

For a great many years the agricultural department at our state university was one of the smallest departments in the school. Today this department rivals the literary department in both attendance and equipment.

ILLINOIS WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES

The main event of the past week was the annual convocation for Founders' Day. The exercises were simple, yet most impressive. A strong, sympathetic address by Dr. F. A. McCarty was especially helpful. More and more the present day generation are beginning to appreciate the sacrifices and the devotion of the founders of the college.

Monday evening at 7 o'clock Miss Neville, head of the department of English Bible, gave a lecture on the geography of Palestine. This was illustrated by a great many beautiful views which she had taken while studying in that country.

Mrs. Faithful Shipley Ebey, now living in California, was a visitor at the college Tuesday, taking lunch with President and Mrs. Harker. Mrs. Ebey was one of the founders of the Illinois Letters Society, and for two years after her graduation was a member of the faculty.

Mrs. Alice McElroy Griffith of the class of 1852 was an interested visitor at the Founders' Day exercises on Thursday. She was called upon by President Harker to speak a word to the students, which she did with unusual strength and ability.

Mr. H. B. Prentice of Chicago, one of the trustees of the college, was at the school Friday, and also attended the funeral of Mrs. Scott. Mr. Prentice is treasurer of the Forward Education Movement, and has been very active in the interests of all the educational institutions of the Central Illinois and Illinois conferences.

President Harker returned Tuesday from Wichita, Kan., where he has been working under the direction of the Endowment Committee of Southwestern College, located at Winfield, Kan. He left Saturday morning for Galeburg to assist in the Healing College campaign Saturday night and Sunday in and near Galeburg.

Mrs. T. R. Bunting and Mr. and Mrs. T. William Turner of Quincy were visitors at the college the past week.

Miss Mary Thornton, daughter of the Rev. N. W. Thornton of Geneseo, was a visitor at the college Friday afternoon.

Mr. Munger will give his annual piano recital next Tuesday evening, October 24th, at eight o'clock, in Northminster church.

The informal lecture given last Friday evening in Recital Hall on the Opera Lohengrin was well attended. Miss Lois Daniels read the story of the opera and some of the text, in explanation, and a number of Victor records were played to illustrate and bring familiarity with the chief characters.

Mrs. Julian Hall is singing a solo, "O rest in the Lord" at the Christian church Sunday morning, October 22nd.

Mr. Byron Carpenter is playing a violin obligato for Miss Mabel Matthews at the Congregational church Sunday morning.

Miss Ruth Duncan is giving a piano solo and Miss Mabel Forrester a violin solo at the Endeavor meeting in the Christian church Sunday evening.

A students' recital was given last Thursday afternoon, October 19th in Recital Hall, at four o'clock. The following program was performed: Waltz (violin) Joseph Block Wendell Rawlings. Minuet (Piano) Schaeffer Dorothy Farrell. Cradle Song (violin) Moffat Louise Renner. Folk Song (voice) Schumann Elaine Russell. Two Melodies (violin) Tours Dorothy Graf. Valse Lente (piano) Bolmetsch Antoinette Gouvica. Berceuse (violin) Renard Ralph Corbridge. Damon (voice) Stange Edna Hackett. Cradle Song (violin) Hauser Marjorie Black. SERVICES AND HOME-COMING AT PISGAH CHURCH

At Pisgah Presbyterian church today a former much esteemed pastor, Rev. N. W. Thornton, is to preach. The gentleman resigned a few years ago to take hold of Geneseo College and help it out of its troubles and he has succeeded very well.

The people meant to have a homecoming today, but as the weather seemed so unpropitious they postponed that affair till next Sunday, when Rev. Mr. Sanders of the region of Peoria, is to preach as a candidate. On that occasion it is the intention to try to have all members of the church and congregation and friends of the church to be present. Mr. Sanders is to occupy the pulpit at the regular times Sunday and in the afternoon Messrs. Morey, Landis and Spooner are to be present and assist in a special program, which will be announced later.

It is the intention of the church to make this a memorable occasion and a large attendance is desired.

COLLEGE OF MUSIC

The class in the Aesthetics of music had its first meeting in music hall on Wednesday evening. About forty-five are enrolled in this class and the work for the year promises to be very profitable. In the first lecture the foundation for the year's work was laid and the manner of approach to the subject was obtained.

Miss Lazelle's recital on Founders' Day evening, was an exceedingly brilliant concert. A large and representative Jacksonville audience was in attendance and expressed its enthusiasm freely thruout the entire program.

Miss Lazelle, teacher of voice at Illinois Woman's College, has been requested to sing at the semi-centennial celebration at the Centenary church, Tuesday evening, October 24th.

The music in Founders' Day service in the morning played an important part in the beauty of the service. Mrs. Hartmann was heard to excellent advantage in the solo, "Eye Hath Not Seen," from the Holy City. Mrs. Hartman also sang at the recognition service for the seniors Wednesday morning in the chapel, singing "But the Lord is Mindful of His Own," from the St. Paul.

The next faculty recital this year will be the first violin and piano evening by Mrs. Day and Mr. Stearns. An interesting program is in preparation devoted to the works of the old Italian and French composers for the instrument.

Miss Mildred Applebee, who has recently been appointed teacher of public school music in the school at Barry, was in town last Saturday planning to continue her study in music at Illinois Woman's College.

Other graduates of the public school music department who are holding positions in the vicinity are: Miss Helen Henry, Waverly; Miss Lena Hooper, Jacksonville; Miss Ina Berryman, Newman; Mrs. Iva Mae Cannon, Greenville, and Miss Edna Murphy has a position in Armour, S. D. These are but a few of the graduates of this department who are making a splendid record for themselves as teachers of public school music.

The music for this year's program for the orchestra has arrived and rehearsals are progressing vigorously. The enrollment is much larger and the enthusiasm among the students in the orchestra is much greater than last year.

Owing to Founders' Day there was no recital in the college of music this week, but next week there will be a recital by the students in the children's department. This is a large and rapidly growing department, doing the important fundamental work in music for children in a correct manner. The department is under the immediate supervision of Miss Lulu Hay, who has for her assistant Miss Myrtle Sheppard.

THE COUNTY CONFERENCE

The annual district meeting of the missionary societies of Cass, Scott and Morgan counties will be held in Northminster church Friday, Oct. 27th. Opening exercises at 10:30 a. m. Our Home and Foreign Presbyterian Presidents are to be with us also new Recording Sec. who will sing a solo. Mrs. B. H. Brainerd is also expected. We are to have a speaker from the Board of the Northwest, Mrs. Alfred C. Tyler, former secretary of Young People's societies. She is an inspiring speaker and will have an especial message for young people. All young people who can possibly do so are urged to attend. Every woman is requested to bring a simple lunch.

Mrs. Samuel Whitaker is spending a few days with relatives and friends in Carlinville.

VALUED SOUVENIRS OWNED BY MR. WEIR

Master Mason's Certificate in His Possession Dated in 1805—Lodge Apron of Same Age.

Miller Weir of this city has in his possession two articles valued by him most highly and with excellent reason. One is a Master Mason's certificate which was granted his grandfather, James Weir by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania in the Anno Lucis, 5809 or A. D. 1805. It is a very elaborate affair printed on heavy sheepskin parchment and in two languages, English and French. His lodge was number 91 and the certificate was signed by the grand officers, James Millnor, Grand Master, Richard Tihout, Senior Grand Warden and George A. Baker, Grand Secretary.

The document is 11 by 12 1-2 inches in size, bears the seal of the Grand Lodge and the inscription: "Ad Majorem Supremi Architecti Gloriam." (To the greater glory of the Supreme Architect). It was given at Philadelphia Sept. 12, 1801 and is in an excellent state of preservation.

Another cherished article is the apron worn by the holder of the certificate. It is made of white silk, very rich, and is in imitation of the traditional "white leathern or lambskin apron, more ancient than the Golden Fleece or Roman Eagle; more honorable than the Star and Garter." It is 14 by 15 inches in its largest dimensions and is doubly and richly embroidered with the square and compass, the acacia sprig, the blazing star and other emblems.

These two articles the owner had in a leather case and carried them with him as he traveled extensively for that early day and they were in demand when he visited a lodge away from home.

Another treasure shows that Mr. Weir is truly of Masonic origin for he has the Masonic certificate of his maternal grandfather, S. A. Miller, member of Hopkinsville lodge No. 37, Hopkinsville, Kentucky.

This was dated June 24, A. L. 5819 and is issued by the local lodge to which he belonged. The officers signing are James McLaughlin, W. Master, Charles Caldwell, S. Warden; Elijah Broadbey, J. Warden; W. M. Hopkins, secretary.

This certificate is engraved with the all seeing eye, the pillars, mosaic pavement, square and compass, working tools, three lights sun, moon and stars and other emblems and is on parchment meant to last always and is in a good state of preservation.

IT SNOWED IN OCTOBER

Messrs. Mathis, Kamm and Shibe keep a brief account of the weather of each day and when the question of an October snow was mentioned some one said he thought it snowed just about three years ago this time, so consulting his record Mr. Mathis found that the morning of October 20, 1913, it snowed till noon, though the weather was warmer than at present and the snow soon went off.

Arthur Swain of Sinclair made a trip to the city yesterday. He said Hebron church services would be in the school house now for a time as there is no way to heat the other place in which they have been meeting.

MOTHER! GIVE CHILD "SYRUP OF FIGS" IF TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Sick, Bilious, Clean Little Liver and Bowels.

Children love this "fruit laxative" and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.
By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.

Paul's defense before Agrippa.
Acts 26.

Golden text: I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision. Acts 26:19.

1. Verses 1-3. In what way is American or British law superior to old Roman law in the matter of giving a prisoner a fair trial?

2. What is the advantage of freedom of speech and of the press in a free country?

3. Show wherein Paul manifests remarkable skill in his opening remarks.

4. What would be the value to the state, if from the public school to the university, the study and practice of oratory were made compulsory?

5. Verses 4-5. How could Paul claim to be a Roman citizen if as he states he was raised in Jerusalem?

6. Why are Christian parents in duty bound to train their children in strict conformity to Christianity and not leave them to choose their religion when they get old enough?

7. Verses 6-7. What was the chief theme of Paul's preaching, and for which the Jews sought his life?
(See Gen 3:15, Ps. 132:11, Rom.
1:16, et seq.)

8. Why should the Jews so hate the religion founded by such a good man as Jesus Christ? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

9. Verses 8-12. Why should it be thought a thing incredible that God should raise the dead?

10. If Saul had been a truly godly man what is the probability that he ever would have been a persecutor of the Christians?

11. Why did Saul persecute the Christians with such murderous fury?

12. Questions 13-18. The light
Saul saw in mid-air was brighter than the sun, what light was it?

13. What power was it that fellowed Saul and his companions to the earth?

14. What were the things that Jesus wanted Saul to teach and wherein had he taught the opposite of these things in the past?

15. Verses 19-21. Saul had witnessed the martyrdom of Stephen and heard his shout of victory when they were stoning him to death;
what effect did that probably have upon Saul? (See Acts 7:55-60.)

16. If Saul had not seen Stephen's death, would the results of the appearance of Christ to him, on the road to Damascus, have been any different?

17. If a man pretends to be converted and does not immediately begin to tell others of Jesus and his salvation, why does that or not indicate that he is a fraud?

18. Verses 22-26. If a man is a very earnest worker to get people converted when he first gives his heart to Christ, but after a time ceases to take any personal interest in saving souls, why does that not indicate that he never was truly converted, or else that he has lost his religion?

19. When a man talks about salvation in his own neighborhood with the red-hot earnestness of Paul, why do many of the people think that he is beside himself?

20. Verses 27-32. Agrippa was under conviction through Paul's earnest words: Why may such an experience be either a curse of a blessing?

Lesson for Sunday, Oct. 29, 1916,
The Voyage. Acts 27:1-38.

Newbro's Herpicide
Aids Nature and Keeps the Scalp
Clean From Dandruff

Reasonable care and effort are all that are required to enable almost any woman to have good hair. When the hair falls out and is stringy, uneven, dry, brittle and generally unsightly, the condition is nearly always due to dandruff.

Before the hair will grow naturally and luxuriantly, the scale-like accumulation must be removed and the dandruff eradicated. That is what Newbro's Herpicide does. It is an aid to nature. Herpicide keeps the scalp clean, adds a softness and lustre to the hair which indicates health.
It not only prevents the hair from falling out but causes it to become one of woman's greatest charms.

Beautiful hair and lots of it may be the reward of every woman willing to devote a little personal effort to the use of the First and Original Germ-Remedy for Dandruff. Herpicide stops itching of the scalp. It has an exquisite odor.

You can obtain a trial size bottle and booklet telling all about the hair by sending ten cents in postage or silver to The Herpicide Co.,
Dept. S, Detroit,
Mich.

Your dealer
sells Herpicide
in two sizes, 50
cents and $1.00,
and guarantees
satisfactory results or money refunded. Insist upon having genuine Herpicide and not some "off brand" said to be "just as good" preparation. The substitute costs you just as much as the real article.
Why take chances?

Herpicide applications obtained at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

ALLIES SUCCESS GIVES BACK WAR INITIATIVE

Somme Offensive Only Part of Scheme of Strategy.

Success of the Allies' Armies Gives Them Initiative in War Operations—Fighting Carried Out Under
Most Unfavorable Weather
For Assaults.

FRENCH FRONT, Oct. 20.—The tactical offensive of the Franco-British forces on the Somme, altho it has entered its fourth month and has attracted widespread attention, is in reality only a part of the entire scheme of strategy of the Allies' armies, but its success has given them the initiative in the war operations, which had for a time slipped from their hands.

A general purview of the theatre of operations in this region shows that the Franco-British front on July 1 ran directly southward from the west of Thiepval, a strongly fortified German position, to Fricourt. There the Allies line turned sharply east-south-eastward and passed to the north of Carnoy to beyond Maricourt, whence it once more turned directly south to Maucourt, the extreme end of the offensive movement.

This was the front, somewhat over forty kilometers in length, chosen by the Allies for their forward push. The French were disposed along about half of the southern end of this line and the following details deal solely with their part in the operations.

The first phase of the battle lasted five days and during this period four lines of German trenches, and in some places five, all constructed of reinforced concrete, were carried by the French troops. Numbers of villages, including Curlu, Becquincourt, Dompierre, Bussu, Fay, Feuillères, Buscourt, Herbecourt, Assevillers, Belloy-en-Santerre, Estrees, Hem and Hardecourt, were captured at the point of the bayonet, after terrific bombardment which left only the outlines of the house foundations still standing. The attacking French forces were compelled to fight from cellar to cellar, in which large numbers of machine-guns had been mounted by the Germans, who had taken shelter in strong force underground and had connected the brickwork caves by passages. In view of the nature of this combat the French losses were very small. On the other hand, the Germans suffered extremely heavy casualties owing to the buildings crashing in upon them while they were crowded in large bodies below. Nine thousand five hundred officers and men surrendered.

During the second phase of the offensive, which lasted from July 6 to September 1, the French progressed still further eastward and at the same time extended northward and southward the hole they had made in the German line. Blaches fell into their hands during the night of July 9 with 1,300 German prisoners. Around this village, occupying a very strong position of which the Germans had taken every advantage, the fighting continued for many days. After its first capture by them, it passed twice out of French hands, but was finally and definitely occupied by them on July 17.

The Germans meanwhile had brought up strong reinforcements from other portions of the front and made desperate efforts to prevent any further advance. The French, however, had acquired the taste for forward movements and in the middle of August, after brilliantly carrying several lines of intervening deep trenches, captured Maurepas.

All this fighting was carried out under most unfavorable weather conditions for the assailants. The first fortnight August was foggy throughout and during the second fortnight rain fell almost without cessation.

German prisoners were captured in large numbers during this second phase of the operations and dozens of cannon and hundreds of machine-guns were taken or destroyed by the French.

WONDERFUL TALE OF AN ACTRESS

Struggled with Sickness and Discouragement; How Relieved.

Dayville, Killingly, Conn.—"I shall be glad to have every woman know what I know now, after using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Although I am only 24 years old, I have suffered for the past eight years. I hated the doctors, for a doctor told me to give up the stage where I was playing with my husband.

I had bearing down pains, my health failed me, and I could not work on the stage, and wasn't able to tend my baby or even get around myself. I was always downhearted and discontented with the world, and only lived for the sake of my little girl. The doctor said to move to some quiet little town away from the noisy city, and I might be able to live and feel well, so I went to Dayville in November. At that time I was so sick I could not walk around, and my husband kept house and I stayed in bed. One day in January I read your advertisement in a newspaper, and I sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and started taking it. Within two weeks time I was a different woman, could get around, and felt so good that it was a pleasure to do my housework. I felt contented and happy, and now am the picture of health, and am tempted to return to the stage. We appreciate my health as the most precious thing on earth."—Mrs. H. L. KLENNETT, Box 55, Killingly, Conn.

The third phase of the offensive opened on September 1 with an artillery preparation more violent and concentrated than had ever been used in warfare. The French infantry began their work only on September 3, when the German positions had been battered out of all semblance of their first condition, altho in the deep dugouts which the Germans had been able to construct during their long occupation the defenders still had good shelter. Their first dash gave the French possession of Le Forest and Clerly with over 2,500 prisoners, 32 cannon and an ammunition depot. On the 4th further south they stormed and took Soyecourt, Vermandovillers and Chilly with 4,647 prisoners and much war material. Next day Ommecourt was captured and on the 6th Berny with a further large group of prisoners. German counter-attacks failed to recover any territory and were followed by a long period of artillery preparation by the French lasting four or five days. On the 12th the French infantry once more went "over the top" and in a brilliant dash captured the large village of Bouchavesnes, whence they continued their march eastward on the 13th, taking in these two days over 2,000 prisoners, ten cannon and 40 machine-guns.

In the meantime the British troops in the north were advancing parallel with the French and the patrols of the two Allied armies joined hands to the east of Cambes, which was thus surrounded and taken on September 25 with much war material and several thousand of prisoners.

On the last day of September the offensive was still going on. The French and British troops were then engaged in consolidating the ground they had gained with a view to preparing a starting point for a further advance.

The territory captured by the Allies during the first three months of the offensive when a line is drawn around it has the appearance of a huge pear like a long stalk. It contains between two and three hundred square kilometers of ground. At its widest part in the north the advance measured about ten miles, while at the southern end the gain was only about a mile in depth.

French military experts are unanimous in the opinion that the united efforts on this portion of the front, besides the enormous losses inflicted on the Germans and the gain in territory, has had the effect of causing the Germans to abandon their long and unsuccessful effort to break thru the French lines at Verdun, while the constant advance of the allied troops despite the desperate opposition of the Germans has contributed to lower the morale of the troops of the Central Powers.

Light Occupation.

Ironing the bosom of a lake.

An exchange says, the high cost of living is serious and congress may have to stop it. We would like to ask if they are going to kill the people? That seems to be about the only way to stop it, for if people keep on living it is bound to be expensive.

The heavy guns of the Somme front have not been roaring any louder than the campaign orators in America, tho they probably have accomplished more.

From a Popular Novel.
She hung on his words.

A former provisional president of Mexico has married a mantuista. She probably will trim him as artistically as he would have been trimmed had he remained at the head of the Mexican government very long.

Packing an elephant's trunk might be classed among the light occupations.

Millikin's football team played fairly well for a bunch of cripples.

Most of the democratic speakers seem to be laboring under a misapprehension. Mr. Roosevelt is not running for office.

What is the use of eliminating the word "obey" from the marriage service as it relates to woman. So far as we have been able to ascertain no woman ever pays any attention to that part of the marriage ceremony after marriage.

About three years ago President Wilson was opposed to making any preparations to defend the country, taking the stand that the building of navies and the developing of a standing army would lead to war. Now the democratic speakers are pointing with pride to the army and the navy bill they passed to build a navy to rule the seas. It doesn't fit well with the slogan, "Wilson kept us out of war."

The stories in the Decatur papers about the Millikin football squad read like a report from the battlefield of Somme. If Coach Wann is to be believed, Joe Catlin has both legs cut off, Killbrow has lost a couple of arms and the other members of the team have such minor injuries as broken necks, backs and legs. Yet when it comes time to play a game all of these cripples usually get into the fray and are as effective as the 42-centimeter guns in the European war.

FUNERAL NOTICE.

LIVESTOCK MARKETING METHODS DESCRIBED

Co-operative Action of Stockmen Becoming an Important Factor—Bulk of Transactions Thru Centralized Market.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—Marked variation in methods of marketing meat animals in different sections of the United States and in methods of marketing different classes of animals in the country as a whole has been found by specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture from a survey of the livestock marketing conditions of the country. The data obtained by Part V of a report of an exhaustive study of the meat situation in the United States.

The three general methods of marketing found to be in most common use are: Shipping to the large centralized markets, selling to local butchers and packers, and the sale of farm-prepared meats to dealers or consumers. The bulk of the animals from the Central States, it was found, is sold thru the centralized markets, while some form of local marketing predominates in the extreme eastern, western and southern sections.

The great central markets handle four fifths of the sheep and lambs, two thirds of the hogs, and approximately one-half of the beef cattle. For local slaughter about one third of the beef cattle, one eighth of the sheep and lambs and one-twelfth of the hogs are sold. Nearly one third of the hogs and about one-tenth of the beef cattle and one-twentieth of the sheep and lambs are slaughtered on farms and ranges. Relatively more sheep are shipped in carload lots by owners than any other class of live stock. Cattle, hogs and calves follow in the order named. In sales to local buyers hogs lead, with calves, cattle, and sheep following in order.

The study discloses that the time of buying stockers and feeders and the selling of finished animals is restricted too generally to a few months of the year. Should stock-feeding operations be better adjusted to market conditions, a decided influence toward a more even distribution of the supply would be the result.

Co-operative associations of cattle raisers are becoming an important factor in marketing, the report shows. Seven hundred and fifty organizations which market cattle in a co-operative way now exist in 15 states. Four hundred and thirty of these organizations are primarily live-stock shipping associations. The greatest activity of this sort was found in Minnesota, where 215 co-operative live-stock shipping associations are located. The Department specialists declare that these associations bring greater returns to the farmers because of the reduction of marketing expenses and the realization of the prevailing prices at the centralized markets, and that they are also valuable because of their educational features.

The system of centralized live-stock markets in the United States is the largest single factor in the marketing of meat animals. It is noteworthy that this system is peculiar to the United States, no other country having developed such markets for their live stock. Not only live stock is sold for slaughter at the centralized markets, but a large proportion of stocker and feeder cattle also passes thru these market centers.

The chief outlet for food producing animals in this country, the study discloses, is wholesale slaughtering and meat packing. Such industries usually are associated with the great centralized markets. More than 1,200 slaughtering and meat packing establishments were operating in the United States in 1914, and turned out products worth $1,651,765,424. The specialists report that one of the striking features is the concentration of ownership. Packing establishments buy directly from the producer in California to a greater extent than in any other state or section. This practice, which in the opinion of the specialists, will continue to be important in those parts of the country remote from centralized markets, is most characteristic of the western group of States in general. There is a decided difference of opinion among producers, marketmen, and packers as to the effects of this practice in sections supplied with central markets on the general market prices of live stock and on the prosperity of cattle raisers.

Municipally owned or controlled abattoirs are becoming increasingly important in the local marketing of live stock, the report shows, and are displacing rapidly the old style of slaughterhouse. Public abattoirs have been established in 22 cities and 13 states. Local conditions should determine whether or not a city should build its own abattoir, and a thorough examination of conditions, therefore, should be made before definite action is taken.

Great variations were found to exist in the losses of and damage to live stock in transit on different railroads. On one road the claims paid amounted to 19 per cent of the revenue during a certain period, and on another to less than 5 per cent. The total claims for such loss and damage in 1913-1914 on 27 railroads were $1,245,477.81. The average rates on live stock for the years 1911 to 1913 were found to be 10 cents per hundred pounds for eastern or official territory, 11.9 cents for southern territory, and 14.5 cents for western territory.

The correlation between average live stock and meat prices over relatively long periods is closer than is generally understood. When the

A few days later the petitioner and Mary Barthelow executed and delivered to Catherine Harmon a mortgage to secure the payment of $1600 borrowed money. It is set forth that $1350 of this sum was for the use of the petitioner and $250 for the use of Mary L. Barthelow, and it was agreed that each was to pay the interest accruing upon the respective amounts borrowed.

It is claimed that Mary L. Barthelow has been in possession of the property as tenant and has failed to make an accounting as to rental. Further the claimant declares that she has spent various sums of money on the property and it is to settle the several matters that suit is brought for division of the property and an accounting.

The Overcoat Assortment of the Town

The Right Coat for Every Man

The Right Coat for Every Purpose

THE overcoat is a law unto itself. It has big work to do—no less than to “make the appearance of the man” whenever he ventures out of doors.

Each season there are leading ideas in overcoats that seem to take the nation by storm.

We pride ourselves on being students of the overcoat. We buy from houses who have not only the reputation for making overcoats right—but the right overcoats.

Pictured—Left—“The Robin Hood”. Swagger back, single breaster, 3-button through—patch pockets with flaps and handy slash. No vent—split sleeve with cuff. Length 42 inches. Skeleton lined satin cape.

The “Pinchback” Right—You see this type of coat worn by young men who scent the coming style. The Pinchback has been a popular suit idea for some little time. Now the Pinchback overcoat is coming in.

AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE OF JACKSONVILLE

The most tragic story in human history came to us today from Armenia and Syria. Unarmed men and defenseless women are killed in the most brutal manner. Their only crime is that they happen to be members of a certain race that is doomed by the unreasoning hate and wild fanaticism of the Moslem Turks. During the present war 850,000 Armenians and 100,000 Syrians have been outraged and murdered. In one village in Armenia, a village of 450, only one woman survives, and she was compelled to witness the murder of her husband and three sons. The four were tied together and shot with one bullet to save ammunition. The atrocities of these fanatical Turks are infinitely worse than the deeds of the wildest savage.

For months the Armenians have been eating grass, now the grass has dried up. It is said that they kill and eat the dogs of the street; they fight for the clotted blood of killed animals; they eat the flesh of fallen animals and men. Words fail to express the horror of this causeless persecution and murder. The reports come from such authentic sources that our National Congress has asked the president of the United States to set apart a day when special prayers may be offered and special offerings given to the relief of these poor, unfortunate people who are the victims of Europe's madness and the Turk's fanaticism. By a proclamation the president has set apart Sunday, Oct. 22nd, 1916, as a day of prayer and giving for the relief of the Armenian and Syrian people. Friends of this cause in New York City have given the amount of money necessary to transmit and properly distribute the offering of the American people in Armenia and Syria, so that every dollar given by our citizens will reach the needy and suffering in the far-away lands.

Such men as James L. Barton, Frederick Lynch, Chas. S. Macfarland, John R. Mott, Robert Speer, Stephen S. Wise and Cardinal Gibbons will receive the offering of the American people and transmit and distribute in Armenia, Syria, Persia and Palestine this token of Christian brotherhood.

This is the time to prove to helpless, suffering humanity and to war-cursed Europe that the United States stands for a practical Christianity, which produces a charity and justice that are divine.

I trust every church in Jacksonville and Morgan County will take this offering on Sunday, Oct. 22nd. The Jacksonville Ministerial Association has endorsed this appeal which comes from our president and from the Council of Federated Churches. The offerings may be sent Monday, Oct. 23rd, to Rev. W. W. Theobald, president of the local Ministerial Association who will forward the amount immediately to the committee in New York City.

Whoso hath the world's goods, and seeth his brother in need and shutteth up his compassion from him how doth the love of God abide in him?

M. L. Pontius, Jacksonville, Ill. Oct. 21st, 1916.

LITERARY PROGRAM AT MURRAYVILLE SCHOOL.

Edwin Clemmins, instructor in the Murrayville high school, visited the city yesterday and gave a glowing account of a program carried out Friday afternoon by the Dial Literary society of the Murrayville high school. It was as follows: Song: Society. Humorous debate: Resolved that girls should be taken on basket ball trips. Affirmative, Miss Thelma Dunniway; negative, Thomas Koyné. The affirmative won. Latin song: School. Talks on basket ball, Captain Dewey Mitchell: "How to lead a team to victory." Lewis Begnel, center: How to play center. Harold Cunningham, forward: How to shoot goals. John McGhee, guard: How to guard. Guy Smith, guard: Advantage of team work. Vocal solo: "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" Floressa Short. Character portraiture: each member of the junior class. Burlesque Dial drill with grotesque costumes: Society.

The whole program was a great success and gives good promise of what may be expected of the organization in the future. The society is named in honor of Prof. J. H. Dial, who so capably taught the school for many years and resigned much to the regret of his numerous Murrayville friends.

HANDSOME TESTIMONIAL TO MINISTER

Tribute of Esteem to Dr. Todd from the Lafayette Park Baptist Church, St. Louis.

Tuesday, September 12th, at 8:00 p. m., in spite of the rain found the auditorium nearly filled to full seating capacity on the occasion of Dr. Todd's last service before leaving for his new pastorate at the First Baptist Church of Jacksonville, Ill. After a short song service, Scriptural Reading, Prayer and one baptism by the departing pastor, one of the deacons announced that while the membership was for the time being without a pastor, the opportunity would be given for talks from individuals of the congregation. In rapid succession and from all parts of the room, and representing every department of the church, sounded forth the notes of appreciation of Dr. Todd's deep interest and hearty co-operation in those respective activities. Next came a forceful message from Dr. S. E. Ewing, who is in charge of Baptist Missions of our city. He highly commended Dr. Todd, and also the church, upon their record of faithfulness and unity of Christian purpose and aggressiveness. He also voiced his regret of Dr. Todd's leave.

"During his five years' pastorate, 197 members were received from other Baptist churches and 148 by baptism—a total of 345. Present church membership 473, and an average Sunday school attendance of 490. The church raised annually over $600 for Missions and Benevolences above its current expenses. Four thousand dollars was raised during the five years for church property improvement.

"At the close of the service Dr. S. E. Ewing presented Dr. Todd with a dictionary and stand on behalf of the people—the gift being the only one they could give that would express their true feelings and con-
